[7] Kumar approached Bhatt for a possible sequel, although it was Shagufta Rafique's romantic melodramatic script that persuaded him that the film had the potential as sequel and decided to proceed with the project. [8] Given the status of Aashiqui in Hindi film history as one of the most beautiful Indian musicals of all time, many expressed concern about the decision to remake the film doubtful that producers could find a soundtrack equal to the quality of the 1990 film. [9] Bhatt said he had completely resisted the temptation to use the soundtrack of the previous film, and promised that Aashigui 2 would revive the era ofcinematic music, as aashigui had done 22 years ago. [10] It was reported that madhur bhandarkar had been approached to direct the film, but later refused the offer due to other work commitments. [11] was confirmed in November 2011 that vishal mahadkar, director of blood money, had to direct the image, [12] but the next month was announced that mohit suri had replaced mahadkar as director at the last minute. bhatt confirmed the development, saying "earlier we had finalized vishal for the project. But now we've scraped that the film was a remake of the vishesh 1990 amorous triangle awaargi films. However, mahesh bhatt denied voices and said "aashiqui 2 is not a remake of one of our films. It's an original script. a very contemporary love story that deals with mature emotions." [9] casting aditya roy kapur and shraddha kapoor (left). filmmakers launched a nationally talented hunt to discover new faces for the film, initially refusing to hire established actors. However, the actors who came to the audition were not promising enough for the roles, and the idea was broken. [14] Mahesh bhatt said: "it was a hunt for disastrous talent. We found out that people didn't have the courage to audition, those who are amateurs went for audition, and people with a certain talent were like why we should risk public refusal. "[15] when suri saw some picturesRoy Kapur and met him, found Kapur perfect for the role and launched it to play the female role. [10] Bhatt said: "Yes, Shraddha Kapoor is playing his head with the two boys Aditya Roy Kapur and Shaad Randhawa. We found her very talented. All three actors have extremely challenging dramatic roles. "[10] When asked to replace new actors with the known ones, Suri said "People said I couldn't make a movie with new actors and expect a public to come in. But I was pretty sure I wanted Aditya and Shraddha to play my characters. My writer Shagufta Rafigue and I saw them as the protagonists. See, Aditya and Shraddha may have had no success before. But this never took away their talent. "[14] The main photograph of the film began at the end of 2012 with the main cast of the film. [16] The film was filmed in Goa, Mumbai and Cape Town. [17] During filming in South Africa, Shraddha Kapoor needed medical care after kneeling on broken glass fragments during the scene where he had to kneel on the floor and talk to his co-star Aditya Roy Kapoor. [18] Aditya Roy Kapor also received burns at his hand during the shooting of the scene in which some Chinese lanterns lit in Cape Town, [19] Soundtrack Main article: Aashigui 2 (sondatrack) Marketing and release The first look was published on 22 March 2013, and was well received by critics and public, [20] Unlike other films whose theatrical trailerreleased earlier, the film producers chose to release the songs before the trailer. [21] the first song, "tum hi ho," was released on March 16, 2013 for unanimous critical reception by critics and became an instant success with about 2 million views on youtube within 10 days of release, which helped in the commercialization of the film. [22] has been trending on twitter and youtube since its launch. [23] the preview poster of the movie showing aditya and shraddha under a jacket in a rainy street with the lamp throwing a glow was released together with the music on April 3, 2013. [25] [25] at the musical ocita event, aitya and shraddha recreated the scene from aashiqui from under a jacket (very like the poster) on stage. [24] the theatrical trailer was released in mid-April 2013, two weeks before the release of the film, and was well received by critics and audiences. [21][26] Unlike most bollywood films that indulge in months of promotion before release, aashiqui 2 had less than three weeks for promotion before its release. [32][33] The film was not published in key markets such as United Kingdom, United States, Canada, Australia and New Zealand. [34] Critical reception Critics praised the performance, chemistry between the lead couple and music. Bollywood Hungama's Taran Adarsh rated the film 4 out of 5 stars, stating that "it brings romanticism" to the Hindi screen – intense, pure, altruistic and disturbing heart. An engaging story with brilliant moments, bravura performance, strong emotional quotient and engaging music, this is an absolute must look for romantics." He praised the performance of the lead cast, writing that "... The representation of the intense character of Aditya Roy Kapur is outstanding. [which] clearly demonstrates his power as a caliber artist and expertise. Shraddha also arrives to sink its stimulating character and the attractive young man is simply amazing, so towards the challenging moments in the second hour. In addition, the chemistry between Aditya and Shraddha is incredible. "[35] Indiatimes gave the film an evaluation of 3.5 out of 5 and said, "Suri launches the story with romance of old world, high-drama and well-prepared heart moments. "[36] Indo-Asian News Service rated the film 3.5 out of 5 and wrote: "Director Mohit Suri crosses the angst-soaked territory with a deep and sincereof the dynamics that destroy love and trust between couples in the glamorous and competitive profession," and that, "Aashiqui 2 makes us grateful for the movement of love history away from the standard Romeo & Juliet format in the dark destructive domain of A Star Is Born."[37] The film also received some mixed reactions from critics. Writing for Hindustan Times, Anupama Chopra rated film 2.5 out of 5 and believed that the film did not meet its potential, but said: "It's an interesting scenario and Suri and his actors put it well. Aditya gives Rahul a certain charm. It's serious and broken. And the real triumph here is Shraddha, whose face of porcelain has an infesting vulnerability. She's as good as the woman in the throes of a great passion that believes that love will show the way.
