But the music has not begun as an ode for the annual celebration of birthdays, and the writers of the music did not get credited originally. The Guinness Book of World Records classifies "Happy Birthday to You" as the most recognizable music in English. It has been translated into at least two language diversions. Here is the story behind the "Happy Birthday for You". The melody and letters of "Happy Birthday for You" were written by Sister Mildred J. Hill (1859-1916) and Patty Smith Hill (1868-1946). Patty was a teacher who developed Patty Hill blocks that were building used blocks -   
