Instructions is a a For people who like to download something without installing a toolbar, a search extension, accelerator download or other unwanted "crapware"? Image not available I'm not sure when when it happened, but lately everything that drain wants to install a toolbar, accelerator download or some other piece of Å ¢ â, ¬ å "Download" with a single right choice. Fortunately, with some simple suggestions you can avoid installing something you don't want or be attracted to a game of internet wack-a-popup. 1. Search always a à ¢ â,¬ Å "Download now, à ¢ â,¬, but actually install a supported ad à ¢ â,¬ å "Download manager ¢ â,¬ Then download the file. But just below the button is a small text link that says A ¢ â, ¬ A direct download the file directly. If you are looking for d The avoiding installing another program, you don't need, the direct download is your best friend. 2. Always choose "Habitual" installation. A, A Sure, an express installation sounds beautiful A & a, "But it didn't show you everything that is installed until it's too late. The next time you install something on your computer, try the custom installation. You don't have to do something more complicated than Check a box next to what you want to install. But the more of the time, you see the pre-controlled options for the things you didn't want: a toolbar, a new homepage or a different default search engine in your web browser or Something worse. Go ahead and deselect those things, click à ¢ â,¬ Ã ¢ â,¬ and enjoy your mental sanitary. 3. Scan, Scan, Scan with an antivirus or anti-malware tool, ie. VirusTotal is an excellent free web service that allows you to upload a file and scan it for malware. Make sure you only use it before opening the file on your computer. And if you're not already running a full-time antivirus, you should be (even if it's less a problem if â "¢ â" ¢ a" ¢ mac user). There are many options to choose from, but free avast antivirus, Bitdefender and Norton are all popular. Do not protect it from the most truly harmful software.
