Jul 22, 2019 Version 1.1.5 This is a terribly limited thesaurus and dictionary. It is hard to navigate and in general, it has a really poor UI. It also fails to offer you enough freedom to control the applications appearance.I purchased the full thing, for I believe approximately $14, and it was a total waste — a big mistake! This app is a random assortment of words that you get for free, the rest is apparently $14. Why not just charge a modest amount of money up front instead? Who wasted their life to choose what words were free and which ones weren't? Dumb. This is just a preview app, you have to buy to use dictionary.... Top Pcmac Reviews Best of the best By Anh Phan89 (Pcmac user) Could not understand those who gave this 1 star and whining , just because it needed to be paid to fully accessible. Look at Meriam Webster, Oxford dictionary, they all did the same. This is the best dictionary by far, coming from who used a number of ios dictionary (Meriam, Oxford,...etc you name it). Worth every penny. Hope the devs keep updating to make it bug-free app. Make more accessible By Black Ragar (Pcmac user) Huge disappointment, since the web version is totally accessible for searching and exploring all kind of words and some good features.I was expecting to experience the same thing in the app, i even created my own words list on the web version hoping to Synchronizing it via the application but none of these were available unless you buy the whole version which the price of it is a bit exaggerated. I think I'm gonna stick with the web version until i find another alternative. Charging for dictionary...in 2018? By Rescuecat69 (Pcmac user) I get that the app should be profitable in some shape or form, but to prevent the general usage of the app without paying $10+ USD just sounds uninviting, especially since the browser version of the Cambridge dictionary is free to use. I'd understand if the app pushes for purchase of the dictionary during offline mode, but the charge during online mode just seems counterintuitive. The rating I'm giving to this app isn't based on its functionality or interface. Rather, it's a rating for the poor business model. The font is terrible Please use a bolder font for definition with blue ink!!! 2- use italic font with black ink 3- let the users choose a different color for background pay attention please! The fonts are very important they should be attractive to read!!!
