IELTS Material · IELTS Practice Test Speaker 35 1 What do you like most about your job? Why? Currently I work in a German company where we satisfy the wishes of our customers and provide them with the most luxurious and satisfying products and services. Therefore, dealing with people is a significant feature of my work, which I am very interested in. I think communication is a powerful tool that can unlock great potential not only of your customers, but all around and I really like it. Being able to interact effectively with others, especially your customers is a difficult but rewarding challenge and excites me whenever I can close a deal with a tough one. Written by professional IELTS teachers to help candidates on the big day 4.5 rating 2 Travels a lot? Regardless of my passion for travel, I was unable to visit as many places as I want. They say travelling is the only thingbuy that makes you richer. I couldn't agree. Although my travel experience is remarkably limited compared to others, it opened my world and transformed my perspectives on life completely. So, I always kept a bucket list of places and things I want to see next to me and tried to explore at least one new place every year to enrich my knowledge and color my world. 3 How do you usually travel by bus or taxi? Why? In Vietnam, most people are using motorcycles to move to the city or nearby places and I am no exception. It is cheaper, cheaper wise and time saving than any other means of transport, at least in Ho Chi Minh City. The infrastructure, the transport system to be precise, is not entirely ideal, which means that the roads are relatively narrow and traffic congestion takes place during peak hours of everyday. Therefore, a small and light vehicle like the bike is an optimal choice to move around the area. 4 What part of your country is it recommended to visit? Why? As a true Southerner, there is no place I would rather be but right where I am now – Ho Chi Minh City – a delightful cosmopolitan city that should be on your "must-visit" list when traveling to Vietnam. Unlike Hanoi or other cities in the middle of the country where inclement time can be unexpected and difficult to face, HCMC has the most pleasant atmosphere with lots of tourist attractions such as Ben Thanh Market, Notre-Damebasilica di saigon, nguyen hue walking street. the people of the south is more known for their hospitality; so, you will always feel welcomed and comfortable around friendly locals. You should say: What is this job? Why did you choose this job? what are the skills necessary for it? respond to the paperwork and daily meetings that last for 2 hours a day I have always been my nightmare since I started thinking about my future career. It is an inevitable reality that you have to face once choosing an office life, which is why I am lucky to be able to land a xyz job – where I have worked in the marketing department since I graduated and absolutely enjoyment. Our company is a global brand specializing in delivering world-class and highly exclusive services for premium customers worldwide. thanks to the high-end market and targeted customers, we have a privilege to work with high-profile people in all industries. our team is small but does not affect our productivity. In fact, because of the limited number of members, we know each other well, which improves mutual understanding, collaboration and flexibility. Instead of having long-term meetings, we make a 15-minute session each morning to keep everyone looping on what others are doing and the progression of ongoing projects so that people can offer help if someone. it is not only efficient, but it makes things fresh and simple, which I really appreciate. I had worked here as an intern beforeofficial; So, I had time to adapt to a new environment, get used to unknown concept that I never met at school and refine other skills. thanks to the time period dedicated to many extra resume activities and part-time jobs during the study at school, my interpersonal skills has greatly improved along with a certain experience in managing events and in problem solving skills, which came at hand and contributed greatly to my performance at work. Besides this, a positive attitude, can-do and creativity are necessary traits for anyone who wants to succeed in marketing in particular and all kinds of jobs in general. vocabulary for the inevitable couture card: cannot be avoided, prevented or ignored; unavoidable. eg: the situation is inevitable land a job: find a job and be hired. eg: after this summer I think I will land in a job. a non-family concept: not familiar; do not know or converse the project has totally unknown concepts without suggestions or ideas given for example: the Indian culture of the north has totally unknown concepts. interpersonal skills: the ability to communicate or interact well with other people. eg: "Please develop some interpersonal skills" significantly improved: positive changes in substantial progress eg: it has greatly improved in its scores required: a particular feature, quality, or that someone or something has. eg: has all the traits necessary to be appointed as chief. a special right, an advantage or immunity granted or available only to a particular person or group. Eg: He enjoyed many privileges as a custodian. keep all in loop: Keep someone informed and/or involved in something, such as a plan or project, in particular what it involves or concerns a specific group. 1 What jobs do children prefer? Why? Children always dream big and rarely let something look down on it, which is one of a million things I love about them. Since the fancier work is, more attention and privileges that can get, many children wanted to become movie stars, doctors or astronauts when they grow up. These are very legitimate dreams that could be achieved when they are determined, disciplined enough and above all, if they are still in the same job they choose 20 years earlier. 2 Is money an important consideration when choosing a job? To be honest, money plays a significant role in every decision we make, including career choice. They teach us all not to let the money governs us, we govern and money is a means, not an end. However, it is easier to say than done. Most people struggle every day to get them to meet the ends. They have mouths to feed and even more bills to pay over time to dream of being a CEO of a multi-million dollar startup one day. Therefore, they choose a stable job with an acceptable income to ensure their family have a stable life. 3 Why children change their working preferences whenUp? While children grow, their expectations about the ideal or perfect work change with them. Nothing can last forever. Adults also experience situations where they no longer feel fit in their current position or career does not bring them where they want to be and decide to change work, even to start fresh in a different sector. Therefore, during a 20-year journey to become an adult, it is perfectly understandable that a child develops interest in a different area since the more they learn and see the world, the more chosen life has to offer. Vocabulary To Speak Part 3 legitimate dreams: compliant with law or rules. Eg: We have the best proof that dreams are legitimate. Determined: after making a firm decision and being decided not to change it. Eg: The fixed route must be determined by the traveller's guide. Disciplined: shows a controlled form of behavior or way of working. Eg: He's more disciplined than his older brother. acceptable income: both income earned by wages, wages, councils, and self-employment and unpaid income Eg: He only has an acceptable income throughout his family. perfectly understandable: capable of being understood; understandable. Eg: The novel was perfectly understandable from the first page. ielts speaking samples with answers band 8 pdf
